Ending serial sexual assault...one match at a time.

2M+

college students are sexually assaulted each year

90%

of campus assaults are committed by serial perpetrators

6%

of student survivors report to Title IX or the police

Our Solution: Callisto Vault

Callisto is a national nonprofit that leverages cutting-edge technology to empower campus survivors, provide a safe alternative to reporting, and increase the likelihood that serial perpetrators will be held accountable. Our encrypted platform, Callisto Vault, consists of 2 tools: the Matching System & the Incident Log.

Matching System

Survivors can safely determine whether others have been harmed by the same perpetrator without having to publicly disclose or report to authorities. To enter into Matching, survivors simply provide:

state where the assault occurred unique identifiers of the offender

contact info should a match occur

If 2 or more survivors identify the same offender, a match occurs and all matched survivors then receive free and confidential legal options counseling.

Incident Log

Survivors can also create a secure & timestamped record of their assault using Callisto Vault's Incident Log. This can help process trauma or serve as a reference should they choose to report.

Benefits of Callisto Vault

- Free, trauma-informed resource available to students, faculty, and staff
- Connecting survivors of serial perpetrators can strengthen formal reporting outcomes
- Can detect serial perpetrators across campuses
- Can offer support to survivors whose perpetrator is not campus affiliated
- Survivors who have pursued formal reporting can still enter into Matching
- Survivors can explore all options including reporting to Title IX and police
- Encryption technology protects data & identities of both survivor & identified perpetrator
- Addressing the issue of serial perpetration reduces harm and makes campuses safer
- Callisto Vault is a third-party tool that does not report to Title IX or police
